The Department of Physical Therapy at Methodist University invites applications for a 12-month, full-time, tenure track appointment at the rank of Assistant/Associate/Full Professor. Methodist University is seeking a faculty member to join our team of energetic, collaborative, and motivated faculty in the entry-level Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) Program. Responsibilities include teaching in areas of expertise, student advising, scholarship, and service to the Department, University, and community, with the option for clinical practice time.

Methodist University is a private comprehensive institution grounded in the tradition of liberal arts. The Program is housed in the Thomas B. McLean Health Sciences Building located in Fayetteville, North Carolina. The 38,800 square foot, state of the art facility has dedicated classroom space, and research facilities that includes a Gait and Motion Analysis Laboratory, Human Performance Laboratory, a Motor Control Lab, and Mobility Courtyard to allow faculty to engage in research agendas and direct student research projects.

The preferred candidate will have an earned doctoral degree (PhD, EdD, or DSc) from a USDE regionally accredited institution of higher education. Consideration will be given to an applicant with a DPT and APTA specialist ABPTS certification and ABPTRFE residency/fellowship. All candidates must be a Physical Therapist eligible for licensure in the State of North Carolina, secured at time of employment. A history of scholarly publications, a well-defined, ongoing research agenda and previous teaching experience are preferred. Physical Therapists nearing completion of a terminal doctoral degree (PhD, EdD or DSc) will be considered. Earned ABPTS board certification, and/or residency/fellowship experience is also preferred. The position requires faculty participation in research, teaching, and service, including committee appointments. Teaching and scholarly experiences that align with the Methodist University commitment to fostering equity and inclusion in all our university practices is required. Preference is given to applicants with DPT program teaching experience with expertise desired in content areas: geriatrics, cardiopulmonary, acute care, orthopedics, exercise science and/or clinical education.

The new faculty appointment is approved to begin no later than January 1, 2022. Review of applications begins immediately and continues until the position is filled.

For full considerations, qualified candidates are invited to submit the following: 1) letter of intent, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) teaching philosophy statement, 4) three letters of reference and contact information, and 5) concise equity and diversity statement about teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population. All documents should be submitted in one PDF file via the Methodist University HR employment portal.
