Simucase is seeking expert clinicians to assist in developing clinical simulations and capturing patient videos designed to enhance clinical competency. If your clinical simulations or videos are selected, you will receive an honorarium for your time and expertise.

Simucase combines the power of simulation-based learning with a comprehensive patient video library. Soon, Simucase now brings its patented simulation technology to a new profession: physical therapy curriculum. With this technology, users can observe, assess, diagnose, make recommendations, and provide intervention for virtual patients.
