

Emory University Orthopedic PT Residency
Kathleen Geist
kgeist@emory.edu

Overview:

Mentoring Weekly Assessment form: The mentor provides feedback and fills out the form regarding the resident's strengths and weaknesses, however if the resident wants to add to the strength/weakness section of the form they can do that. The resident completes the other components of the form, goals for the future encounters, expected challenges and ways in which they want feedback and then they complete the self-reflection portion following each mentoring session. This form helps the mentor see trends in performance, beyond session by session performance. This is an important 'reflection' skill for the mentor and the resident.